Security Agency"
 (b) DoD Directive 5100.23, "Administrative
Arrangements for the National Security
Agency," August 25, 1959 (hereby cancelled)

I PURPOSE

This directive prescribes certain administrative arrangements and delegates administrative authorities required for the administration and operation of the National Security Agency (NSA).

II ORGANIZATIONAL RELATIONSHIPS

The National Security Agency is a separately organized agency within the Department of Defense under the direction, authority and control of the Secretary of Defense who acts as executive agent of the Government for the maintenance and operation of the National Security Agency. To the extent applicable and consistent with the functions assigned to the Agency, Department of Defense policies, regulations, and procedures will govern the Agency's operations. When DoD directives, instructions, or other authoritative issuances hereafter published refer to DoD components or Defense Agencies, these terms include NSA unless the issuance itself specifically exempts NSA, or the Agency has obtained an exception or modification as provided below:

A. Originators of DoD directives, instructions, and substantive changes to these documents shall ascertain and consider the views of the Director, NSA as appropriate.

B. If the Director, NSA, determines that DoD issuances would adversely affect the conduct of the mission of the Agency or interfere with its security requirements, he shall recommend to the Secretary of Defense exceptions or modifications to these issuances within 90 days from the date of their promulgation.

III ADMINISTRATIVE ARRANGEMENTS

The following specific arrangements and provisions will be applied in the administration and operation of the NSA:

A. Programming, budgeting, financing, accounting, and financial reporting activities of NSA will be in conformance with policies established by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller). Disbursing services will be provided by the military departments.

B. The Director, NSA, will develop, in collaboration with the military departments, and submit to the Secretary of Defense, in accordance with applicable directives, consolidated cryptologic plans and programs, together with the Director's recommendations as to requirements for military and civilian manpower, operating costs, investment in facilities and capital equipment, and research, development, test and evaluation.

C. The Director, NSA, shall make maximum use of the established facilities and services of the military departments and other DoD components wherever practicable to achieve maximum efficiency and economy.

1. The military departments and other DoD components shall provide such support to the NSA within their capabilities as may be necessary to carry out the assigned responsibilities of the Agency.

2. The need for and propriety of items procured for the NSA shall be determined by the Director, NSA, subject to DoD procurement regulations.

3. Although the Agency will operate its own printing plants, it will utilize the facilities of the military departments for the disposal of printing, binding, and related equipment that is surplus to the needs of the Agency. Such equipment will be removed promptly from the Agency facility by the military department concerned. When such equipment is being replaced, it will be removed concurrently with or prior to, as appropriate, the delivery of the replacement items. In other instances, when it is necessary for the convenience of the Agency that surplus printing equipment be removed prior to its final disposition by a military department or the General Services Administration, the cost of the removal will be borne by the Agency.

4. Other excess or surplus equipment and supplies of the Agency will be disposed of in accordance with DoD directives.

D. Statistics, reports or information which will disclose the organization or any function of the NSA, any of its activities, or the names, titles, salaries, or number of persons employed by the Agency will not be released outside the DoD to any individual, organization, or Government department or agency except when authorized by the Director, NSA, the Secretary of Defense, or other proper authority, or when required by law. Statistics and progress or status reports, including those pertaining to personnel employed by or assigned to the NSA, which are required by activities of the Office of the Secretary of Defense will be submitted by the Agency to the Directorate of Statistical Services, OASD(Comp), in accordance with the provisions of DoD Instruction 7700.3.

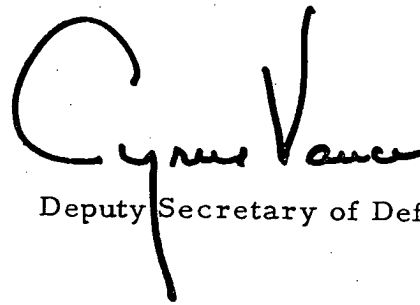

E. All military and civilian positions of the NSA are hereby designated as "critical sensitive positions" and will be treated as such in connection with investigative, security clearance, and employment matters.

IV DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY

An inclosure to this directive contains delegations of the various administrative authorities required by the Director, NSA to administer and direct the operations of the Agency.
